The Ridge Park Homeowners Association will host a candidates' night this evening at the Arlington Heights VFW hall.

Candidates for township office, village board and park board will give brief speeches and the meeting will be thrown open for questions from the floor.

ALL CONTENDERS for village office, with the exception of Mrs. Jean Hanlon, have indicated they will attend the meeting. All park board candidates say they will be present, except Jack Edwards who must attend a park board meeting.

The meeting begins at 8 p.m. at the VFW hall, corner of Yale and Northwest Highway, and the public is invited to attend.

NO ADDRESS WAS NEEDED when Rolling Meadows Firemen raced to a new building in the Three Fountains apartment development on Algonquin Road Friday night. Moments after a resident saw a glow in the building, the center section literally exploded in a mass of flames that lit the sky. Stanley Morton, state deputy fire marshal, believes a gas furnace in a central unit may have caused the fire,. "We could have never made it with hand lines," Fire Chief Tom Fogarty said. He drew on aerial equipment of Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights, as well as pumpers from Mount Prospect and Palatine to augment his equipment. And in the mutual aid pact, Hoffman Estates moved into the Rolling Meadows fire station to stand by.

Electric Heat EnjoysReal 'Boom'

had electric heat in your home or apartment, you were in one of the most exclusive clubs in the Chicago area.

Electric heat was then being promoted as "a new type of home comfort that takes the furnace out of the house and replaces it with heat-by-wire." At the start of 1958 there were less than 150 electrically heated dwelling units in the area served by Commonwealth Edison Company. Today there are about 40,000 electrically heated homes and apartment units either completed or under construction in Edison's service area and 8,000 of these were added in 1968 alone. The figures, in other words, indicate a real boom in elec-

According to Les Milligan, vice president of Edison's northern division, local residents have helped to make "unique electric heat commonplace." Edison's northern division extends from Chicago's city limits to the Wisconsin state line and from Lake Michigan west through half of McHenry County.

"Our division now has 6,500 electrically heated units either completed or under construction," Milligan said. "Last year another 1,200 units were added to the growing number of electric heat installations in the north and northwest suburbs.

IN THE trade itself, a great number of technical arguments are advanced to explain the success of electric heat. For the housewife or man of the house who doesn1t

About 10 years ago if you know the difference between a kilowatt and an ampere without pulling out his old physics textbook, there are sound common sense reasons for the switch to electric heat.

Tenants and owners of electrically heated apartments and homes repeatedly list the same reasons why they prefer electric heat. The common reasons are low maintenance costs, convenience, cleanliness and the safety of a flame-free system.

Tetants and owners of electrically heated apartments and homes repeatedly list the same reasons why they prefer electric heat. The common reasons are low maintenance costs, convenience, cleanliness and the safety of a flame-free system.

No one, of course, can ignore operating costs and here too electric heat pays off.

'Electric heat is not a luxury," Milligan said, "it's practical and economical. Since 1958 heating costs have been cut by over 50 per cent. The charge for heating a house is 1.2 cents a kilowatthour. This means that for a properly insulated six-room house, the average cost would be about $200 a year.'

Another reason why people select electric heat is its versatility. Like the 1969 automobiles, you have a lot of models and options to choose from with electric heat.

AMONG the most popular are electric baseboard, ceiling cable, wall panel heaters, the electric furnace and the heat pump.

Electric baseboard re-

CHROMALOX ELECTRIC baseboard warms this home. To meet various heating and wall dimension requirements, the units come in 3, 4, 6 and 8-foot lengths. Heat outputs range from 500 to 2,000 watts. Voltages range from 120 through 277.

Ceiling cable is a completely concealed heating system that provides radiant warmth to all corners of a room. Electric wiring is simply fastened to the ceiling and covered with drywall or plas-

Wall panel heaters are most effective when used on outside walls or under windows. They are particularly useful where space is limited.

THE ELECTRIC furnace is a unit with a resistance heating element. Heat is circulated by passing air over the furnace and blowing it through ducts serving all the rooms.

The heat pump is a reverse-cycle refrigeration machine which furnishes either heating or cooling. It supplies warmth or cool air as needed. Existing duct work can be used when installing the heat pump in an older home.

"This is by no means a complete line-up of the types of electric heat now on the market," Milligan said. "But it may give you some idea of choices open to the homeowner who lives electrically.

GRACIOUS AND ELEGANT room with a Spanish mode is created by Steven J. Kottler for Kingsley Furniture Co., Inc., for the "America at Home — 1969" program at the American Furniture Mart in Chicago. Although the room is not basically Spanish, lacking the heavy, dark furnishings associated with that style, it has touches reminiscent of Spain. The lighter toned wood and the airy effect of the cane paneling on sofa and matching chair blend with the slender lamps to give a gracious, attractive effect to the room. Elegant, carved insets in the table adds a formal touch. One of the many new elegant Spanish collections now featured at Lynell Furniture in the Rolling Meadows Shopping Center.

FAMILY ROOMS, particularly if there are teenagers at home, need carpeting that can stand up to rough wear. "Turning Point" by Stevens Gulistan has been designed for just such hard wear and is the first to offer the customer a six year wear warranty at the time of purchase. Made of bulk continuous filament Avlin polyester, this carpet, with its deep luxurious pile is available at Lynell Furniture.

Miami instead of Los Angeles. Stop that van!"

Currently, many long distance movers have some means of locating a driver en route within 24 to 48 hours. But until comparatively recently, the lady in question could only pace the floor until her belongings surfaced in Los Angeles.

HERE'S how one mover does it . . .

Allied Van Lines uses the Inward WATS (Wide Area Telephone Service) system in which all its drivers - nation-wide - report by phone once a day to Allied general offices in Broadview, Ill. Drivers must call in every day whether they are en route with a van, loading or unload-

This permits the customer to locate, through his local moving agent, his shipment on any given day.

It also allows urgent messages to be communicated to a driver. When a driver calls in to Allied's Central Equipment Control section, the staff member receiving the call scans a control board and relays to the driver any message appearing after his name.

Up and Away With Urethane

The world of tomorrow becomes more exciting every day with trips to the moon, to outer space, and travel around the world a simple day's journey. Homemakers already are using and living with furnishings that have a space-age flair. Much of the news in furnishings this season concerns the use of man-made materials and plastics.

One such plastic is urethane. It is a very versatile plastic capable of taking on many shapes, forms and colors. It is strong and can withstand much punishment . . . and yet it is flexible so as to be molded in the free-flowing shapes of today's chairs and sofas.

Urethane will also make possible walls and ceilings for houses that will revolutionize home building. Urethane walls for example will be available as stacking units to be placed as organized in a variety of shapes. These walls will be strong and capable of bearing the load of heavy "work walls" such as in a kitchen, a bathroom or laundry.

Block floors, with radiant heating units, will be popular. They'll be cushioned so that they are soft, but with a hard, long-wearing surface.

The use of the plastics for ceilings will allow for many carvings, reproductions of art or design, as desired. The days of the flat, dull ceilings overhead will soon be gone. Ceilings will also have cushionings for sound conditioning.

Looking at furniture, we find today that many of the big furniture items, such as sofas and chairs, are easier to move and have free-flowing lines. This is because they have frames of plastic which is light, but strong.

Even the heavy armoires, sideboards, bookcases and buffets of the future will be made with these man-made materials. Again, they will have many decorative and ornate features—just like the carefully sculptured wood—but they will be lighter in weight, making cleaning and moving less of a chore.

Manufacturers will also be able to mold a chair to fit your body. Imagine, your size might be fed into a computer which in turn would set up the ingredients and machinery for molding your very own, personal chair!

Decorating Hints

Decorate pillows, rugs, bedspreads, curtains, etc. with pieces of felt. Buy felt squares in the five-and-ten. Cut flowers, animals or other designs using a pattern. Then just glue on the felt motif. Be sure to remove the felt before washing the item.

Some Time-Saving Tips for Kitchens

For the modern mom the kitchen is still headquarters for preparing meals to satisfy her family's appetite. That's why kitchen convenience is so important to her.

The typical homemaker decides she needs a new kitchen when her home is over 10 years old, according to the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau. And with at least 40 million homes over this 10-year mark, about $3 billion will probably be spent on kitchen remodeling

Here are 12 pointers to help the homemaker with remodeling in her blueprints to determine what the "comfort quotient" for a work-saving kitchen should be:

- 1. WORK Centers. The kitchen's three work centers are built around the sink, refrigerator and range. There should be plenty of counter space around each, and the three should form a triangle to save steps.
- 2. Counters. Make sure these are the right height for the homemaker who will be using them — not for the so-called "average woman" of
- 3. Cabinets. Kitchen cabinets should extend to the ceiling. True, top shelves are hard to reach, but they're a good place to store seldom-used items. Cabinet doors should open and close smoothly.
- 4. Sinks. Those sinks with double or triple bowls are more useful than the single bowl type.
- 5. Electric dishwasher. Hours of drudgery can be saved by installing an electric dishwasher. New models have settings that enable the homemaker to wash everything from delicate stemware to heavy pots.
- 6. Garbage disposal. An electric food disposer saves countless steps to the garbage pail and keeps kitchens more
- 7. Instant Hot Water. Installation of a device that dispenses teakettle-hot water makes for easy preparation of instant drinks.
- 8. Faucets. Built-in aerators, spray hoses and built-in stoppers are features of new faucets that make using the sink easier.
- 9. Lighting and Ventilation. Make sure the kitchen is cool enough in summer and warm enough in winter, with proper ventilation to eliminate cooking smells.
- 10. Small appliances. In clude a mixer, a blender and other small appliances that make food preparation easier.
- 11. Walls and Floors. Choose colors that trigger a cheerful mood but ones that won't grow tiring, for wall and floor coverings.
- 12. Installation. Have the new kitchen installed by a plumbing contractor who offers the complete remodeling project. He'll coordinate all needs - plumbing, tile setting, cabinet-making, electrical work.

Color 'Magic' Makes Room Bigger

Want to increase the of business firms - among when the foil or background York City-based firm, take er off-white favorites as oyapparent size of one or more of your rooms knocking out a wall?

You can do it - with the magic of color.

Sound silly? Well, before you jump to conclusions, why not sit down right now in the room under consideration and take this simple test:

- 1. What color are the doors? (Odds are they're nat-
- 2. What color is the woodwork? (More likely than not. it's a different shade than the doors - probably a light tint or white.)
- 3. Now, what about the walls - what color are they? (Doubtless a third color.)
- 4. And, finally, what color is the ceiling? (In most cases, a different shade than the walls - usually white.)

IF YOUR answers are all the same, you're already an exponent of the avant-garde "all one color" school of interior decorating. And color selection is the vital factor. But if you have as many as four different shades for your answers, or three, or even two, you have two routes open selection and standardization.

Standardization is, as the meaning of the word implies. reduction — in this case fewer colors. One or possibly two, instead of three or four.

If you're already painting walls and woodwork the same color, why not the doors, too? Then if you really want to "expand," choose an off-white or some other "open" hue and paint the ceiling the same color as the walls.

"Do-it-vourselfers" will welcome the latter suggestion, especially when they recall painting along the top of the wall, struggling not to get paint on the white ceiling, or vice versa. When you're doing both the same color, you just brush or cut away in the corners and along the joints. This saves lots of time and considerable wear-and-tear on the nervous system.

MOST HOMEMAK-ERS prefer water-based ceiling and wall paint good reason. It's so much easier to work with and clean up after. When it comes to woodwork and doors - two areas that require more frequent washing - they usually turn to a semi-gloss enamel. Most paint makers provide the two in matching colors for those who prefer woodwork and walls alike.

Now, what about color selection? How important is it to the over-all "space" and emotional effect?

Faber Birren, nationally known color consultant, sums it up like this: "We have lately come out of a muted or subdued era in home interior styling during which a color like beige has been dominant.

"Now," Birren continues, "the walls have brightened as if the ceiling had lifted and the brightness of the sky itself allowed to enter. This tends to increase the apparent size and dimensions of a room, and it also provides a cheerful psychological lift to the eye and emotions.'

Birren, who serves as a color consultant for a number goes on to say: "Thus with walls off-white and the furnishings vivid with hue, the modern home is more expansive than ever before and there is far more action and excitement in it. Any woman "golds, fern greens, and cowho seeks to have her home balt blues have taken the attuned to the future may well consider these effects.

"variety can be endless, for the name of Birren's New is off-white, the home, like a flower garden, can be 'planted' with vibrant color notes in the form of carpeting, upholstered furniture, draperies and accessories.

"Here," he emphasizes, public's fancy.'

HOW DO clients of "Luckily," he points out, American Color Trends, Inc., advantage of his services?

Du Pont for example, based on his analysis of interior color preferences, now offers five off-white variations in both its "Lucite" ceiling and wall paint and matching enamel. And one of these — World's Fair white (now Antique white) became the No 1 seller in its line of 26 ready-mix colors within a year after its 1964 introduction, topping such othster white and mission ivory.

On the strength of that success, another white was added in 1965. And still another spring white — in 1966.

Colors have many characteristics. Popular among them is "glow." Now, with emphasis on selection of lighter shades and standardization in application, there's a new col-or characteristic that sounds almost like it: "grow.

During 1966, the last year for which the figures are available, there were 669,400 residential fires in this country. And in 1967, fire losses in the United States amounted to $1,706,717,000 — a figure covering damage only to buildings and contents and excluding other non-building

Fire and other perils to your home can wipe out completely everything it has taken a lifetime to acquire. And the real tragedy is that many homeowners discover too late that their homes and personal $22,200 to replace in January, property have not been insured to current value.

MOST dwellings today are worth more than when they were purchased. The average selling price of a new home has increased 3 to 4 per cent a year for the past 10 years, which means if you purchased your home 10 years ago, it may be worth 30 per cent more today. Home construction costs are expected to increase by an unusually high 11 per cent in 1969 alone. A dwelling that could be replaced for $20,000 last January could cost

Thus, your insurance coverage, based on an appraisal of your home and property made 10, five, or even as little as three years ago will prove inadequate today. Insurance experts caution homeowners to be sure their insurance is based on current building values. If you insure your dwelling to at least 80 per cent of the cost to rebuild it under a homeowners policy, any loss will be paid on the basis of actual cost to repair or replace "new" for "old." If you insure for less than 80 per cent of replacement cost, most policies provide that your insurance company will only pay the replacement cost, less depreciation.

In other words, if the roof on your house would normally last 20 years and is 10 years old at the time of the loss, your insurance company may pay only half the cost to replace the roof. The answer is to select an amount of insurance that will rebuild your home, new, at current replacement costs.

STATISTICS prove that "it can happen to you." Talk to your insurance agent about a reappraisal of the current

The story is color and it's hide-and-see . . . now you see it and now you don't.

The story is color and the name is Casbah . . . things to happen to the furniture game in many a moon, playing Hide 'n' See together — Moorish - Mediterranean version — all over the bedroom.

In a Moorish mood, Johnson Carper splashes warm Mediterranean color behind intricate dark filigree in the new Casbah group, a collection that breathes the mystique of the East with the neat lines and crisp efficiency of the West. Exciting show-through color panels of Terra Cotta, Spanish Black, and Olive Green are permanently stored in all drawer fronts, slip easily in and out between drawer backs and open grille work to make Mediterranean magic with the warm, sun-baked colors or black accents and a touch of your finger-tip.

Brighten the fun trundle bed, of oak and oak veneers, by putting a tall 6-drawer e chest beside it and rainbow-striping it from top to toe. Make a psychedelic study place with hutches on correlating chests, desk, and corner chest all colored as madly as your mood is than ever before. The attractive patterns range from traditionals and prints to modern motifs and an assortment of contemporary art. You'll find stripes, geometric designs, scenics, florals, polka dots, checks, squares and also soft and elegant damasks.

Most of the group's 27 pieces correlate completely (the others make exciting individual accent pieces), wrapping themselves around a room in a contrast of color and dark oak finish. Some pieces are scaled to fit neatly into smaller rooms or a child's domain . . . others have the weight and prominence to grace a master bedroom or living room. A Casbah room all one color is elegant. A Casbah room with a changing mosaic of color panels is exciting. Instant decorating . . . the do-your-own-thing variety!

Looking at the flocked and embossed papers, you'll see patterns, paisley and small prints in brilliant colors. And the combination of the vinyl coatings and non-fade color pigments make care an easy matter.

Then, for the do-it-yourself decorator, there is an equally large selection of the easy-to-hang prepasted papers. This category has a number of the scenic and panel patterns, many of which need only be dipped in water before hanging. And, the designs vary from floral and tree effects to nature scenes, to city street scenes, contemporary figures or characters from well known fiction and ACCESSORIES will bring the excitement and personality to your rooms. They will make your rooms come alive and will complete your decorating theme or mood.

The items that you select for accessories should be a reflection of your interests and those of your family.

Paintings, pieces of sculpture and objects of art, should, for example, be of situations and scenes which are known and enjoyed by those persons using the room. If your husband loves sports, why not have a painting showing his favorite sport? For a hunter — a scene of quail, for a fisherman - a quiet lake, for the skier — a crisp winter setting.

Should you enjoy plants and flowers, you may wish to turn a room divider into a miniature greenhouse. It will be a perfect separation for a living-dining room, as well.

Be sure to remember to use pillows when you accessorize. They are always popular and available in endless selections of color, size and fabric. This season they are very lovely in cut and crushed velvet . . . and in many patterns and prints.

Sometimes there are pieces of ceramic and other treasures which you acquire on a vacation or holiday. Why not include them in your accessorizing? They will add much personality as well as decoration.

> Have you noticed that when you visit some homes or offices, that they are always comfortable and pleasant even when there is much activity? What's the answer . . . what's the secret? The room has been planned for its use and users.

> The same should be true in your home. Think of the uses your rooms will have. Who will use them and when? The following is a checklist of hints to help you in your planning:

- Discuss with your family what each room will be used for and how you wish it to look.
- Prepare a model and a plan . . . either on paper or with cut out circles and squares (to represent the furnishings).
- -Next establish what designers call the center of interest. For each room, it is important that furnishings relate to the center of interest.
- -Place the location of the large pieces. Then establish locations for smaller pieces and lamps.
- -Be sure that when you place the furnishings to keep a balance. This is done by distributing the weight of the various elements around the room. Don't have all the big, heavy furnishings on one wall or around the center of inter-

- -Be sure that your lighting is good. Review the locations of lamps and their uses. Be sure that study and close work areas have good lighting. Keep the soft and subdued lighting for the visiting sections of your living room or den.
- -Be sure that your furnishings will be arranged in Remember, too, that such a way that the pieces the size of the room. Don't place large pieces in a small narrow room, for example.
 - -Remember comfort, especially in chairs.
 - —Look to the future. Will your children be entertaining in a few years? Or will you have many overnight and out-of-town guests? If so, think of furnishings for those needs as well as for the immediate situations. And, don't forget that you can't ever have enough storage space.

TRYING TO find a new way to bring some warmth and charm into your home? Many times you can find the answer with wallpapers, with their many designs, patterns, prints and murals. In addition to bringing the design excietment you are looking for, wallpapers can be used to set off your furnishings.

A HE MAN'S ROOM THAT will also appeal to a woman is created by Elroy Edson, AID, for Selig Manufacturing Co. A new suede and rosewood sofa captures the attention and sets the tone for the room. Viewed from the front, the sofa appears to be all suede cushions and frame — but seen from the side or back, one sees the rosewood panels surrounded by the warmth of suede. A real zebra skin is used in front of the fireplace and two leather-like swivel chairs flank a rosewood occasional table. The suede sofa is protected with a non-rub-off finish for added life. Attractive, simple accessories give this room a modern and elegant look. At Lynell Furniture, Rolling Meadows.

Warm Contemporary Design

Contemporary design with overtones of 19th Century English tradition is the theme for Wellington Park, a new grouping by Drexel at Schneller Furniture, Arlington Heights.

Designed by Peter Milne. it is the contemporary with warmth and simplicity rather than the slick modern look. The 60-piece collection for living room, dining room and bedroom has a traditional finish on pecky pecan veneers, enriched by elegant veneer treatment, so the wood becomes an integral part of the design. The finish is a warm medium tone. Hardware is a mellowed brass and has been interpreted from European designs.

HIGHLIGHTING the collection are such interesting pieces as a cane and wood sedan chair . . . T-square cocktail table with small pull-out candle shelves at either end . . arched headboards with arched headboards with cane inserts, other tables with brass straps.

Dining chairs have a 19th Century Bentwood look with simple shaped backs and legs in a choice of a slat or cane back. Dining tables are unique and handsome.

Also included with this new group are four 19th Century pieces, Victorian in flavor, which will also be part of Drexel's new Et Cetera collection. These include a writing table with black iron-looking base, porcelain pedestal and a brass and porcelain gallery around the desk top. A similarly styled piece serves as a bar, and two Victorian bar stools complete the group.

Upholstery is reminiscent of the 30's look in large, overstuffed sofas, graceful Bentwood shaped lounge chairs, and a tub chair with cane rolling over the arms. A selection of 9 linens in the beige, brown, black and natural tones in stripes, plaids and self-toned stripes are featured fabrics, combined with crushed velvets, textures and tweeds in the neutral look. The result achieved is elegance.

Wellington Park is distinguished and elegant in appearance without clutter, has the tradition of yesterday combined into a contemporary look. It has appeal for all ages.

Bennington Tables Have New Finish

Through the miracle of modern chemistry, a new permanent finish for table tops is now available on Bennington Solid Pine Dining tables.

The new finish needs no waxing, retains its patina, and reveals the beautiful mellow natural grain of the wood. The finish resists heat, spills, stains, crayon marks, alcohol, and nail-polish.

The "transparency" of the new mica-Wood finish is the result of its fusing onto the wood table-top surface, entirely different from plastic laminate tops.

Made by Vermont Furniture Co., the "Bennington Collection," of "Early American" design, features many styles, including bedroom furniture, dining room sets, chairs, and also the new "trestle table," with extendable design.

Only select Northern White Pine is used in the "Bennington Collection," featured at Maple Manor, 504 Dundee Ave., Elgin.

Homemaker Uses Imagination for Peppy Look

A utility room, sun porch or basement that's never amounted to much takes on a peppy look with the addition of one of the new printed carpets. The carpets come in a rainbow of colors and pat-terns to blend with every decorating scheme.

These carpets are completely practical, too. They are made of durable, stainresistant fibers and are backed with high density foam rubber so that no separate carpet pad is needed.

Here are some "themes" an imaginative homemaker can apply.

An enclosed sun porch makes an excellent potting shed, and the plants and flowers add to the visual decoration. A built-in bench holds the plants - and wall shelves the gardening supplies.

If potting soil is dropped on the carpet, it is easy to brush or vacuum away

A laundry room is another good place for a potting shed arrangement, because the humidity in the air is good for the plants. Since the carpet and its foam rubber backing are mildew proof, the moisture won't affect them.

If her interest in gardening is limited, a homemaker might turn the laundry area into a small home office or even into a private gym. The carpet makes a good mat for exercising, and while the clothes are in the dryer she can tune up tired muscles.

In a basement turned playroom, printed carpet is doubly attractive. It goes down right over the concrete, providing warmth and comfort for the children.

New Bathrooms, Most Wanted. Get New Ideas

As homes get older and families grow larger, the bathroom continues to lead the lists of most-wanted home improvements.

For homeowners planning to remodel or add a bathroom this year, here are some points to keep in mind.

The trend is to larger bathrooms. A 5x7 size was standard a few years ago. Today it's more likely to be 7x8 or 7x10 feet.

Another trend is to more color. Popular are yellow, pink and blue, but bolder colors such as red and orange are gaining in favor.

New products make the idea of bathroom remodeling even more appealing. Among them are off-thefloor water closets, for good appearance and easier cleaning, and vanity lavatories, with countertops, shelves or drawers.

Tubs come extra-long, extra-low or extra deep to suit preferences.

Both faucets and showerheads offer a wide range of controls to preset temperatures and regulate water flow.

Even medicine cabinets make news, with two compartments, swing or sliding doors and integral lighting.

by the technicalities of central system air conditioning, uncertain about what they are buying, and concerned about getting value for their

Here's a simple, direct guide to the subject:

Central air conditioning is a complete home system, cooling at a comfort level in the same way a furnace warms at comfort level - in fact, the cooling and heating systems frequently can be mechanically combined, although this is not necessary.

Visualize it this way, suggests Chrysler Airtemp, maker of all types of heating and cooling equipment:

Central system air conditioning removes heat from the air when the thermostat says it is too hot; the central heating system warms the air when the thermostat says it's too cold. The two systems thus provide a comfort level control for year-round, whole-house conditioning.

Central systems may also add the benefits of humidity control, filtering out contaminants and pollens from the air, and reduction of cooking odors, and grease build-up — in other words, all the pleasures of a generally freshened house. For these benefits, an electronic air cleaner and a humidifier are added. This overall approach to the house environment is called the "total comfort con-

For a basic cooling system, a homeowner may pay from 50 cents a square foot in a new house to $1 a square foot in an existing house, depending on such variables as age, condition, insulation, the presence or absence of heating ductwork, and local labor

Operating expenses also vary, according to the size of the equipment, geographic region, and local utility rates. Annual central air operating costs can run from a low of about $40 to a high of about $180. These are very rough expenses when central air. conditioning is planned.

These costs are an investment in the future. Installation is a permanent improvement of the house, increasing its value and frequently returning as much as $2,000 to the homeowner when it comes time to resell.

According to a survey by the U.S. Savings and Loan League, air conditioning will become a standard feature in $20,000-plus homes by 1972: by 1977. With this kind of Much of the furniture ex- forecasting, the sellers' mar-

Purity of Water Is Important

The proper treatment of water is the key to success concerning any "cleaning job" in your home today, according to Bill and Glen Curtis, of Ace Washer & Dryer Co., Arlington Heights and Schaumburg.

With the advent of modern automatic clothes washers and dishwashers, the purity of water has become more important than ever before.

High calcium and magnesium content (water hardness) does not allow detergents to do the work they were designed to do. Consequently, clothing is not cleaned properly, dishes remain dull, and even manual cleaning jobs, such as floors, walls, etc., suffer from "scum" problems, making the housewife's job more difficult.

THERE ARE many more disadvantages due to "hard" water, such as plumbing and appliance corrosion, bathing problems, and "bath-tub ring," etc., which can be eliminated by the use of a modern fully-automatic home water conditioner.

Ace Washer & Dryer Co. has long recognized the need, and now offers the frous Lindsay Water Cond. er (second-largest manufacturer of its kind in the U.S.), along with Maytag washers, dryers, dishwashers, and food disposers.

Ace is well-known locally for rendering prompt service at economical rates, and, due to large volume factory purchases, offers "city-discount" prices without sacrificing good service, according to Bill and Glen Curtis, co-owners of Ace Washer and Dryer Co.

'Individuals' Comprise Casa Nova Collection

Remember it in the fover of that fabulous inn at Torremolinos, the one that was an old monastery? There was a Velasquez hanging over it, accentuating the richness. You noticed it too, in a painting in the Prado, and in the exquisite country house near Madrid where everything inside must surely be 300 years old. Each piece could have been the inspiration for Casa Nova, a superbly elegant new furniture collection by Johnson/Carper.

Spanish in feeling, Mediterranean in background, Casa Nova has the whole European Renaissance as its source. Like a shield or a crest, a handsome weaving of latticework suggesting a knight's coat-of-mail runs as motif through this important group, appearing as a focal point of a magnificent triple dresser, emblazoning armoire doors, dividing the two drawers of a small night

Be Careful Using 'Miracle' Product

"Miracle" products and modern packaging methods make many disagreeable household tasks much less of a chore.

But they can also turn your home into a potentially dangerous chemical laboratory. If not used with proper caution, powerful polishes, cleaners, bleaches and sprays produce caustic burns, injury from explosion and internal poisoning.

The best way to avoid accidents is to read labels carefully and follow exactly manufacturers' instructions for use of such products as bleaching agents, cleaning fluids, floor polishes, glues, heribicides, insecticides, paint thiners and removers.

ACCORDING to latest figures available, in one year, 1,000 people died from the effects of toxic gases and vapors and another 1,600 died from swallowing or absorbing through the skin poisonous materials commonly found around the home. Of the 1,600, 350 were children under five years of age.

A common mistake is an assumption that if certain household products do a good job by themselves, a combination will work better. Such mixtures can create toxic vapors and gases which cause poisoning by inhalation or absorption through the skin. These gases are doubly dangerous because they are usually invisible and odorless.

Never mix bleaching agents or bathroom fixture cleansers with ammonia, vinegar, oven cleaner, rust remover or lye. For absolute safety, don't mix bleaching agents with any other cleaning components.

Potentially harmful household cleaners and medicines should always be stored properly and kept out of reach of children.

PROLONGED exposure to methanol or methyl alcohol, a commonly-used solvent for a wide variety of cleaning jobs, can cause severe coughing, hard breathing, mental confusion and loss of balance. Work with doors and windows open and take fresh air breaks when working with products containing methanol or with turpentine.

The increasingly popular aerosol can is a safe, as well as convenient, dispenser, but must be used as directed. Some of the propellent sealed in an aerosol dispenser usually remains after the product is used up, and rising temperatures will expand the gas until it explodes. Aerosol cans stored near stoves or in the direct rays of the sun have been known to explode. Before disposing of "empties," hold down the button of an aerosol can until all propellent is exhausted.

For a booklet on "do's and don'ts" in using household products, write for "Silent Menace In Your Home," Public Relations Department, Kemper Insurance Group, 4750 N. Sheridan Road, Chicago, Ill. 60640.

Hint: Think small.

The fact is, electric heat costs have come down so much in the last ten years, that sometimes it surprises even us.

Of course, we've done our best to help, by lowering electric rates dramatically during that period.

Actually, you pay about $200 a year for electric heat in a typical six-room house with proper insulation—the kind most people buy.

It all boils down to the fact that you don't have to make a lot of money to have electric heat in your home.

So don't be surprised if someday we say "Think tiny."

Furniture manufactured not only in tasteful designs but by skilled craftsmen is available in all price levels. This is especially true among the leading manufacturers who have realized the increasing youth market which does not have lots of money to invest in home furnishings.

One way to assure yourself of quality is to buy only from reputable retailers and dealers. Such retailers are not difficult to locate. WITH AN EYE TOWARD young married couples, United DeSoto has come up with a collection of wall coverings with the new young look. The "Bravo" collection is strippable, prepasted and scrubbable which makes it even more appealing to the do-it-your selfers. Flashing fluorescents and bright colors predominate. "The End" makes use of a highway traffic sign pattern and "Oom Pah Pah" is a pulsating, patriotic pattern with stars and stripes in bright red, white and blue. Another pattern is "Where It's At," a design of movie stars and super stars. In this collection are also more conservative florals — all at Webber Paint, Arlington Heights.

New Concept In Exterior Improvement

Alcoa has announced a new concept in aluminum exteriors, Alcoa Accent 70.

New Accent 70 combines the charm of V-groove paneling with the easy maintenance qualities of extra strong Alcoa aluminum alloys. These new vertical siding panels blend beautifully with almost every architectural design.

The exclusive Alcoa "Alumalure" finish, a long wearing, baked enamel that resists chipping, splitting, flaking, blistering and peeling, is the finish that protects and beautifies Accent 70.

Alumalure is applied in heavy, even coats and then baked on to stay on. Accent 70 won't warp or rot and it can't streak because of rust.

Alcoa Accent 70 can be purchased from An-O-Vent Awning Corp., 16 S. Center, Bensenville.

Potted Plants Add Beauty, With Ease

The modern look of container gardens reflects the need for maintenance-free outdoor living. Potted flowers and greens of all sizes and shapes mean release from the drudgery of caring for extensive planted areas.

Container gardens are weedless and mobile. They require a minimum of care and can be imaginatively used to decorate any outdoor area.

Decks and patios used for relaxing or outdoor entertainment are naturals for potted plant displays. An expanse of wooden fence or garage wall benefits, too, from the addition of a clay pot garden.

Before deciding on outdoor locations for container plants, the requirements of the plant should be considered. Some locations receive full sun, while others are semi-shaded. Plants should be placed accordingly.

Geraniums will thrive in sun-drenched areas. Potted mums, available all year round, also do well in the sun.

Right for shaded areas are tuberous begonias, fuchsias, or vivid cinerarias. They'll do well on protected porches, underneath a garage overhang, or in the shade of a tree.

Also attractive for outdoor landscaping are planter boxes and hanging baskets. All plants in baskets or planters should be kept individually potted in clay containers.

A planter box of mixed green and flowering plants makes a colorful window or porch railing addition, and looks well on a patio or deck.

Plan Now For Summer

How do you like your summer's sleep?

Rare. Medium. Or well done!

Barney Sanders of Sanders Heating Co., Arlington Heights, suggests you think about it. Last summer you probably spent your nights feeling like something on a chef's menu . . . tossing and turning in the sizzling heat . . getting well done on all sides!

SANDERS suggests that now is the time to beat summer's heat, before it beats you. Hot, sticky weather will be here before you know it.

In effect now are the lowest, off-season prices on Lennox central air conditioning. It's possible that Lennox total comfort air conditioning will fit right into your present heating system. Think what "sweet dreams" that could add up to!

Next step should be to consult a dealer. Have him inspect the home and dete ne the best kind of system. If the home has a forced air heating system it will be suitable for component air conditioning—normally the same ducts are used for both cooling and heating.

A dealer may, for example, base his estimate on adding a cooling coil to the furnace, installing a condenser - compressor outside, running connecting lines, and replacing your furnace blower motor with a heavy-duty type. He may also recommend replacing old wall registers with two-way diffusers.

He will probably suggest an electronic air cleaner and humidifier.

If the present furnace is unsuitable for add-on air conditioning, the dealer may recommend an independent cooling system with its own ductwork. Little interior area is sacrificed, for equipment is compact and well designed, suitable for installation in a basement, crawl space, attic or closet.

Or, the dealer may suggest replacing the old furnace with a new gas- or oil-fired unit with forced air central heating. In this case, the new furnace and air conditioning are installed at the same time.

When building a new home or buying a tract house, consider the total comfort concept. Local air conditioning dealer-contractors are accustomed to working with architects and builders, and a three-way discussion may prove fruitful to all concerned.

Consideration of any type of air conditioning requires thought and planning. Confidence in the dealer or contractor who supplies the equipment is essential. Installation of an air conditioning system frequently is quick and easy, with a minimum disruption of normal household activities. With all the facts taken into account. once the decisions have been made the family can look forward to a new era of year-round comfort - "total comfort," that is.

SUMMER SUNSHINE in the south of France inspired this delightful room. Nettle Creek's print Avignon is used in a quilted bedspread and cafe curtains cut tall for privacy. Blending mustard shades for walls and floor and forsythia yellow antique satin draperies carry through the sunny theme. To spice the room, paprika red from the print covers a comfortable chair and ottoman in brightness. What a delightful atmosphere to wake up in! Nettle Creek bedspreads and other home accessories are available at Lisa's Draperies, Arlington Heights.

Technology Benefiting Homemakers

Textile technology continues to provide homemakers with a unique gift of time as a result of the development of durable press and soil release fabrics.

More than 80 hours are saved each year by homemakers because textile products such as curtains, draperies, tablecloths, sheets, pillowcases, and all manner of apparel items can be laundered without having to be ironed.

IN THE home fashions area, durable press and come clean table coverings, curtains, and sheets and pillowcases continued to grow inreasingly popular during the past year. The wardrobe concept for tablecloths also continued to gain with the introduction of a variety of new designs and colors in traditional weave constructions as well as in mali-type fabrics produced by Burlington Industries' Nexus Division. (Fabrics produced via this process are neither knitted nor woven.)

Also very much in the field of no-ironing, soil release fashions for the home are a variety of fiberglass tablecloths, curtains and draperies.

The silent service characteristics that are being built into textile fabrics, will continue to save time and provide the homemaker with greater performance and better dollar value as more and more products come from the research laboratories into the marketplace.

Furniture in the Mexican idiom makes its debut in a country casual collection by Drexel, called villa Escalante', at Schneller Furniture, Arlington Heights.

Designed by Fred Schubert of Drexel, the 60-piece collection for living room, dining room and bedroom takes its zest from Aztec cultures and has design motifs adapted from architecture such as cathedral doors, hacienda iron gates and heavy, bold carvings so definitely Mexican.

Fashioned in cherry veneers with wormy soft maple solids, it has a "beat up," dark, distressed finish that has the look of age and wear. It is a versatile collection . . . just right for the family room . . . the home that likes a casual air . . . or can be combined with "just right" accessories to give it a sophisticated look. It is furniture with a "today look."

NEWS IS in the high, towering beds with bold block fronts, handsomely shaped arch tops. Small, bunching tables have deeply carved aprons in an iron grille looking effect . . . dining chairs are so handsome they "steal the scene" in a room. China cabinets have bold brass grille doors. A custom painted finish on selected pieces is in a rich cream color, striped in soft orange and olive green, and heavily antiqued and distressed to give a worn look.

Fabrics are textured and hand woven looking, colors are as brilliant and gay as the village fiestas.

This new collection is definitely exciting, livable, and so versatile the homemaker can create the atmosphere that suits her living. It is up-to-the-minute style-wise with today's decorating emphasis and popularity running to the Spanish theme.

Wrought Metal Furniture Changes

Beside the designs, finishes and fabric selection, there is much that is "new" and "improved" about Meadow-craft wrought metal furniture which is often overlooked.

We're sometimes like Volkswagen's beetle . . . the changes which are made are not "on the outside" and yet, many times, they're more important to the user than the apparent changes.

Change . . . after years of using the conventional steel slats as a seat platform, Meadowcraft brought out the rubber-based composition platform which gives unsurpassed seating comfort. An exclusive with the Birmingham-based company and available at Northwest Metalcraft in Arlington Heights, the elasta-Seat* platform has been, up until this time, found only on finer interior upholstered furniture. Practically indestructible, the platform is attached to the frame by a series of rust-proofed high-tension steel clips to give complete support over the entire seating area.

The elasta-Seat suspension is standard on all of Meadowcraft's wrought iron groupings, with the exception of the Dogwood Collection—and is used on sofas, love-seats, lounge chairs and spring-base chairs.

IN ADDITION to offering greater comfort, the new seat platform retains its shape indefinitely — stretching to "float" you when you sit, and recovering its taut shape immediately as you rise — giving you cushions that fit snugly with no gaps and under-construction showing.

Change . . . a handsome new cast aluminum wheel is being used on all Meadow-craft chaise lounges, tea carts, barbecue wagons and rolling buffets. Greater strength, complete freedom from worry about rust and corrosion, and unparalleled beauty. What more could you ask from a simple wheel?

Change . . . no more foam rubber, with high odors and "powdering" after a comparatively short use . . . no more kapok, that absorbed untold amounts of water and took forever to dry . . . Mead-owcraft uses just the right density of Nimbus* polyurethane foam to give luxurious seating that must be experienced to be believed. Non-allergenic and odor-free, too.

FOUR NEW ACCESSORY PIECES recently introduced by MEADOWCRAFT . . . beautiful and practical items for indoor and outdoor use. The graceful supporting frames are of vine-like textured metal. All pieces are available in a choice of Meadowcraft's eight hand-rubbed antiqued frame finishes, plus Satin White or Black. Upper left: An all-purpose carry-about stand with tripod base which may be used as a chairside table or as a potted plant stand. Upper right: A handsome four-shelf etagere adaptable for use in any room indoors and equally at home on terrace, balcony or patio. Shelves graduate from 19½" square to 9" square. Lower left: Pleasant three-shelf half-round plant stand with ample room between shelves for potted plants . . . delicate in design, yet sturdy for everyday use. Lower right: Decorative corner treatment for "hard to handle" patio nooks and corners. 16" distance between shelves accommodate most potted plants. Overall height of unit, 50". At Northwest Metal Craft Studio, Arlington Heights.

Change . . . always a pioneer in bringing the best to the fore, Meadowcraft is the first to have installed an electronic heat-welding machine for making welded-seam pads and board seats that stay out in the weather with nary a thought about showers and misplaced garden sprinklers. The heavy duty pure vinyl film is permanently closed along the edges . . . no needle perforations along the seam line to allow water seepage.

CHANGE . . . with the advent of the new heat-sealed pads, Meadowcraft was able to convert to a thicker chaise pad for its outdoor chaise lounges, with no worry about the comfortable 2" thick polyurethane foam filler soaking up galloons of water every time a summer shower came along.

Change . . . it's happening every day . . . perhaps it's a safer, more durable glass for table tops, making the world a little less dangerous for "little folks" in the family . . perhaps it's a more pliable vinyl strap used for "ties" on cushions to make them easier to snap and unsnap . . . perhaps it's the little difference of half an inch in the pitch of a spring-base chair to make it a little more comfortable and a lot more safe . . . whatever it is . . . you can bet that Meadowcraft is doing it.

The big problem is . . . no one will ever notice!

New Henredon Line Is Pure 'Modern'

Probably the best definition of modern design ever made was the pronouncement that it is "the planning and making of objects suited to our way of life, our abilities, our ideals.'

But few collections of furniture in modern style adhere as closely to this concept as Folio Eight, a new line by Henredon featured at Barnitz Studios in Evanston.

In both wood and upholstered pieces there is a purity of line, an impressive standard of craftsmanship, and a marvelous balance of sizes, forms and weight, carefully designed to relate to all the others and provide purchasers with an infinite variety of choice. Here, modern design has truly "mastered the machine for the service of man" to produce an individually crafted collection of rare distinction.

Another precept of modern design — that it should express the qualities and beauties of the materials used was followed in creating Folio Eight. The smooth, sleek finish reveals the beautiful grains of the rare English oak, walnut and rosewood veneers used in the wood pieces, and their natural color characteristics show through to bring interest and liveliness to a grouping and to individual units.

FURTHER excitement comes through the use of three exquisite, mottled finishes — Pearl, Mandarin and Tortoise — which are used on mirrors, a desk and occasional tables in various dimensions, to give accents of shimmering color — all the more effective because the exotic finishes are combined with geometrically simple forms — a rectangle in the case of the mirrors, and the beautifully-wrought T-square shape of tables and

As always with a Henredon collection, flexibility is at its core. A low, round game table with a four-pronged pedestal is teamed with a pleasant example of the Versatile chests in Folio Eight are designed to be used in living or family room, or in the bedroom; there is a choice of a three-drawer chest or a door chest with convenient. fold-back panels. Finished in the warm, wine-brown Vintage with tops and sides of walnut veneers and facades of book-matched walnut veneers framed in neat mouldings of English brown oak, they are set on simple plinth bases, slightly recessed and finished in the darker Umber hue. When further storage space is needed, stacking units in any of four different types can be added; these are an open deck, a door deck - with one open shelf and two adjustable shelves behind the fold-back upper doors — a glass door deck with a lighted interior, and a deck with twin doors above a drop front.

A NIGHT table of the utmost refinement has a bevelled top supported by four chambered posts above a two-door base. It matches in handsomeness a panel bed in which the beautiful walnut veneers of a headboard framed with mouldings of Englished brown oak have their counterpart in the night table's facade.

The cube form, which has become almost traditional in the framework of a collection of furniture in modern style, appears at its most elegant in a 16 by 16 inch version, encased in book-matched veneers of superbly grained brown oak and topped with a 38-inch square of bevel-edged glass to make a handsome cocktail table. In a simpler version, which has the added bonus of mobility, the cube cane-backed captain's chair. alone is set on casters, so that it can be wheeled anywhere it is needed in living room or family room. The same choice is offered in a 16-inch high cylinder — though, of course, when it appears as a cocktail table with a glass top, this is circular in shape.

All rooms need variety, rhythm and balance, but because line and proportion are even more important where the furniture is geometrically simple in form, the designers of Folio Eight have created upholstered pieces that will complete the harmony of the composition in a room or a grouping.

THERE IS, for instance, a marvelous, crescent-shaped sofa, with deeply diamond-tufted back, seat and arms, and a serpentine front whose fluid, flowing lines provide a wonderful counterpoint to the verticality of such occasional pieces in this Henredon collection as a 22 by 22 inch rectilinear book table, with top-to-base panels flanking each of its four corners. The workmanship in this piece is typical of Folio Eight; all the joints are mitered out from a top of radialmatched veneers of interestingly-grained English oak.)

Softness to counteract the crispness of the wood pieces is provided in a unique 27-inch wide bench with a comfortable knife-edged cushion seat and a T-square base entirely covered in crinkled vinyl. This is light enough to be pulled up to a seating group, distinctive enough to stand alone or in pairs in bedroom or a small hall.

A look of solidity and strength is given by a sleek, wood-frame sofa, set on neat, chamfered legs with two seat cushions that fit around the high arms with geometric precision. Welting, both inside and outside, outlines the padded arm panel and continues around the back, emphasizing the sofa's bold silhouette.

This is one of a group of sofas, all designed in the same tailored style which are made in 70, 86 and 96 inch lengths; as a 58-inch love seat and as a 30-inch chair, thus giving the homemaker a considerable choice in picking one or more pieces that will suit the space at her disposal and be perfectly in key with the Twentieth-Century look of Folio Eight.

AGAINST the long wall of a living room, the 96-inch wide version is attractively offset by the light, lively feeling of a pair of 24-inch square book tables, covered on top, back and sides with magnificent rosewood veneers. In the front, tambour doors can be slid open to refeal a commodious storage area — with an adjustable shelf cut back to accommodate bottles so that the piece can be used as

Variety is cleverly introduced into the dining pieces in Folio Eight by the use of an alternate finish the dark, matte Umber - for chairs and for the apron and legs of the round and oval tables that provide the balance in form with the rectangular shapes of the storage pieces. An unusual example is an oblong table softened with elliptical ends; joining a pair of legs at both ends of the table. this rounded shape is repeated in the crescent stret-

A collection that cannot fail to please even the most demanding modernist, Folio Eight has another quality that will delight people addicted to eclecticism. Though it makes a strong statement, it can be effectively mixed with other styles - a point proved beyond question by its makers, who combine it in room settings with chests in campaign style from another Henredon group, the Officer's Chest Collection.
